

Long Term Development coaching course. (WW KAYAK)

Long term development is a process for the student to be coached and mentored over a period of time to develop their white-water kayak skills from cognitive to antonymous learning. (Made simple instead of thinking about it your skill and understanding will become natural).

This is a top professional course and one of a kind which no other providers are offering and is a rare and fantastic opportunity to be mentored by Andy Holt BCU level 5 coach who will run the course to suit the individual's needs and learning style. So is this you? I want to get better, not sure what im doing, Is it right? I don't seem to be progressing, I'm scared! frustrated, lacking motivation then this course is for you and also a great course for coaches and/or river leaders wanting to move up the ladder as well.

Course overview.

Starting in September There will be 2 courses for Intermediates to progressive advanced. Happy on grade 3/3+ but wish to polish up and move into grade 4/4+ territory and improver to progressive paddlers happy on grade 2+/3- and looking at looking smoother on grade 3/3+.

There will be 8 sessions spread over 4 months doing 2 days at a time, All the sessions will be practical on the river including on the first half day an observation and analysis session from myself to see where you are and your needs to move forward. Then we will work on a skill base set on TTPP (technical, tactical, psychological and Physical) Looking at each element with lots of practice and understanding. Also, very important for your learning we will include a long term development & action plan, goal setting short and long and regular feedback including video analysis from myself on your progression.

Ratios are only 1 to 4 so you will get plenty of top-quality coaching time and feedback.

All First sessions will be based in North Wales with the next session's venues to be arranged. For your development it is important to get onto different geological areas and water types therefore I would like all students to experience different areas such as the South West, North/South Wales, Lakes, Or Yorkshire, We will have the discussion with each group and try and accommodate venues that are suited for all to where you live, However some compromise will have to be made if team members are spread across the country.

Cost of the course is £675 pounds. Which includes 8 full days of coaching and mentoring from Andy Holt BC level 5 coach, including a long-term development/action plan, goal setting short and long and regular feedback including video analysis from myself on your progression.

Excludes accommodation and kit hire.

The course does not supply boats and Kit, Therefore you will need a good river running or creek Kayak, fully air bagged along with WW helmet (No £30 cheap helmets please this is you head your talking about), Good solid footwear, BA and spray deck, Some of this course is during the winter months so a dry suit is advised or good cag and pants with plenty of warm inner layers.

Safety kit, small first aid kit, throwline, long piece of tape (4/5m) with a screw gate karabiner, river knife and whistle. Up to you on other safety kit as I do carry everything. You will also need lunch and a drink for each day.

Accommodation is not included; however, recommendations can be made for each area to suit your budget.
